

To support our team from terrasan CZ s.r.o located in Prague, we are looking for a:

Working student (m/w/d) Product & Marketing Management

About us:

Sustainably enriching everyone's life by making it greener and at the same time strengthening their unity with nature and the environment – that is the vision that drives COMPO. Diverse quality products and solutions enable everyone to live a green, natural and sustainable everyday life and have been helping them to unleash the full potential of their plants for almost 70 years – whether they have two left hands or a green thumb.

COMPO not only impresses with products and services indoors and outdoors, in the garden or on the balcony – but also in its capacity as an attractive employer in the office, in the laboratory or in production. And it does so at over 25 sites throughout Europe. In that respect, COMPO's values also take highest priority in regard to COM-PO's working environment: quality, reliability, responsibility, innovation and joie de vivre. At COMPO, employees are personally and individually supported and challenged in equal measure. In other words, just as the company provides support for each employee, the employee is also committed to his or her topics, projects and the company itself. After all, only through everybody's commitment and jointly is it possible to achieve what COMPO has defined as its mission: to sustainably enrich the life of each person through more greenery and strengthen his or her unity with nature and the environment. COMPO's vision embodies precisely what connects all the employees and motivates them on a daily basis and in their dealings with one another.

Objective of this position:

- Planning and monitoring of the advertising budget in coordination with the export countries
- Independent and agency-supported development, implementation and control of suitable online and offline marketing activities for the COMPO export countries
- Support in website maintenance
- Development and introduction of new products in the export range
- Communication with customers mainly in English (phone / email / Microsoft Teams)

Skills and qualifications:

- Economics or communication student
- Passionate about marketing and product management processes
- Fluent in Czech and English, German is desirable
- Experience in Microsoft Office
- Team player with good communication and collaboration skills and a high level of self-motivation

You can work remotely if you like or you are invited to join your colleagues in Prague or Münster (working hours 10-20 h / week).

Do you think you're a good fit for this position? Then send us your CV to students@compo.de.